Business as usual can no longer continue. We are seeing things that are surprising in the business community.

What are examples that you are seeing as business as a force for good?

Judy Samuelson

Vice president at the Aspen Institute, Founder and Executive Director of The Aspen Institute's Business and Society Program, Author of "The Six New Rules of Business: Creating Real Value in a Changing World"

Judy Samuelson is the founder and executive director of the Aspen Institute Business and Society Program and a vice president at the Aspen Institute. She is the author of The Six New Rules of Business: Creating Real Value in a Changing World. Signature programs under Judy's leadership include a ten-year campaign to disrupt Milton Friedman's narrative about corporate purpose, a multiyear dialogue to produce the Aspen Principles of Long-Term Value Creation, and a partnership with Korn Ferry to rethink executive pay. She previously worked in legislative affairs in California and banking in New York's garment center and ran the Ford Foundation's office of Program-Related Investments. Samuelson writes regularly for Quartz at Work, is a Bellagio Fellow, and a director of Financial Health Network.

Yusuf George

Managing Director for Corporate Engagement at Just Capital

Yusuf George is the Managing Director of Corporate Engagement at JUST Capital, an independent, nonprofit organization that makes it easier for people, companies, and markets to do the right thing by tracking and researching the business behaviors Americans care about most. Prior to joining JUST Capital, he worked at Barclays Capital within the Global Capital Markets division, where he curated investment and risk management strategies and established and managed client relationships with international hedge funds and global asset management firms. He currently serves on the Board of Directors of Talk Tech Association, the Middle Project Inc., and the Red Hen Collective.

Join us for further discussion in breakouts.

See you back here in 1 minute!

Welcome Back!

Option 1:

1. You will be invited to join a breakout room where you can continue the conversation in smaller groups.
1. In your breakout room:
 - Please take turns introducing yourselves by sharing your name, location, and if you're part of a chapter.
 - After each person has introduced themselves, take turns sharing if you had an “aha” moment from the conversation, what resonated with you from the conversation, or what questions are coming up for you.

Option 2:

- Stay in the main room to chat with Peter and other NI staff members about upcoming Net Impact programming, how to become involved, and any ideas that you would like to share with us.
- To choose this option, just ignore the prompt to join a breakout session.

Option 3:

- You can move back and forth between breakouts and the main room. Whenever you decide to join a breakout, click on the breakout room button or message us in the chat. If you're already in a breakout, just leave and rejoin us in the main room.
